Nico has a rare chromosome deletion, a deteriorating lung disease that to this day 20 years later remains nameless. A brutal virus attacked his lungs in July 2015 leaving him on a ventilator battling for his life with no hope for a cure. His condition is so rare there isn't a doctor that can help Nico while he becomes progressively worse. Kids like Nico who battle with everyday struggles are left to fight alone in the dark. We hope to shed light on the struggles of these ailing children with rare/orphaned diseases because their lives matter too.
